

Dear Roy,

Working with you was a great experience. Not only because you supported me in leading a group which was very enthusiastic about publishing in renown journals, in spite of their lacking of experience in writing a full sentence in English; but because you brought in also the spirit of cooperation and team work, making of the Experimental Biology Division an exciting place to expand our imagination and creativity.

I am also thankful for your advice and support in the organization of the Graduate Studies Program of CIB. Your experience on education matters was indeed an inspiration for designing a program that is not only original, but also an instrument for aiding the scientific and technological development of my country.

For all this, and for your unquestionable friendship, I feel very much in debt with you. I know that soon we will be together in a new dimension, and hope to get the chance to complement each other as we have done in this one.

Your fiend
